

ATI TEAS Remote Dry Run Acknowledgments

Specific Dry Run Related Acknowledgments:

- I acknowledge that prior to my dry run testing appointment, I will visit ATI Testing and create my user ID and password by clicking on “Create Account” on the homepage and answering all questions. I understand it is my responsibility to have my ATI Username and Password on the dry run day in order to access my test.
- I understand I only need to complete the dry run ONE time, unless I plan to use a different computer
- I understand that I will be given my dry run access code and detailed instructions regarding the remote dry run via the email address I provided, no later than the day before the test. It is my responsibility to read, understand, and follow all the Student Quick Start Guide and Troubleshooting instructions to ensure my dry run is successful and meets all necessary testing requirements.
- I understand I must use the dry run access code provided by the Chattahoochee Technical College Testing Center to ensure I complete the correct assessment. No other institution ID or access code should be used, other than the code issued by the Testing Center.
- I understand I must use Google Chrome web browser during the dry run, as stipulated in the Student Quick Start Guide sent to my email. I understand I will be ready to start the sign-in process at least 10-15 minutes early in order to be able to begin the actual dry run test on time.
- I acknowledge that I must have a current government-issued ID with my photo and signature to validate my identity during the check-in process.
- I understand cell phones must be turned off before the dry run begins and may not be accessed at any time during the test.
- I acknowledge that I will NOT be able to speak or chat with the testing proctor after the dry run begins. If I need help with the testing system, I will use the Quiz Tools box available on my screen. I understand questions about the actual test can ONLY be asked outside of the dry run period. I understand I can send an email to the testing center either before or after the dry run.
- I understand the Testing Center will contact me, via email, after I successfully complete the dry run with further directions regarding registration for the actual ATI TEAS Remote assessment, along with the remote test registration access code. It is my responsibility to register for the remote test after I successfully complete the dry run and receive my access code.
