

Coronavirus Response and Relief Supplemental Appropriation Act (CRRSAA) - Fall 2021

This fall, students who are enrolled will once again have the opportunity to receive CRRSAA funds. As in the past, some students will be automatically awarded the funds based on their responses on their FAFSA. Students who are not automatically awarded will be able to apply for assistance a little later into the fall semester. There is one change to the plan for fall; students will be awarded varying amounts depending on how many credit hours they enroll in for the semester. Eligible students enrolled in nine or more credit hours will receive $750 and eligible students enrolled in less than nine credit hours will receive $500. Information about the application will be shared with the student body in September.
